Welcome to Milano, the venue of the European Symposium for global perspectives and local identities in healthcare architecture

The Challenge

The evolution of medical, technological knowledge and social models leads to questioning the relationship between caring spaces and living spaces within the city and the built environment.

The European Symposium aims at creating an open multidisciplinary platform to identify the trends and challenges that Hospital Design and Urban Health will have to face in the coming years.

The scope of the conference is to create synergies with associations, institutions and national and international companies dealing with the built environment and health in order to identify operational and strategic design tools. The International Academy for Design & Health is a non-profit multidisciplinary association founded in 1997 at the Karolinska Institute in Stockholm. It is a world leading association composed by experts active in research or belonging to the industrial world, promoting the creation of environments capable of supporting health.

The Future Leader Award is a design competition for students from Bachelor's Degree, Master's Degree – I and II level, PhD, Specialization programs and academic courses. Students and graduates (up to 2 years from the dissemination), coming from the Schools of Architecture, Design, Economics, Engineering, Medicine, etc., with research works in the field of organization, management or design of working and healing environments, and/or projects related to urban health and health promotion in built environments, are invited to participate to the call for award. The projects should have been developed in the last two years (2016 - 2018). A group of students can take part in the competition, but it is requested to identify a spokesperson of the group, and to list all the names of participants.

Each participant can present only one proposal in one of the two sections:

- CATEGORY A - URBAN HEALTH – related to urban scale projects;
- CATEGORY B - SALUTOGENIC DESIGN – related to architectural scale projects (schools, healthcare facilities, working spaces, etc.).

- 1 panel (A1 format - vertical orientation) in .pdf that summarizes the project and/or results of the research project;
- 1 page (A4 format) that summarizes the research work and/or the texts carried out, in which it is necessary to highlight the University, Faculty/School, Year, names of the teachers/supervisors of the course/thesis;
- 1 .pdf presentation (standard format 4:3) – maximum 10 slides that illustrate the project and the relationship with health promotion strategies and/or salutogenic approach.

All the submitted projects will be projected and/or exhibited during the Symposium in Milan. Entries are judged by a committee of experts representatives of the European Chapter. The winner of each category will benefit of free conference fee and the participation to Gala dinner for prize-giving. In addition, the project/research project may be published on some journals and magazines, or the web-site of the Academy. Mentions will be considered to the best works.

Register at: www.designhealtheurope2018.com and upload your project!
